Inaugural Frankfort Manufacturing Summit on Feb.12 to Feature Business, Political, Education Leaders

All Kentucky Broadcast, Print and New Media Journalists Urged To Attend

WHO:

Kentucky Association of Manufacturers, Kentucky's most historic industrial trade association.

WHAT:

KAM is holding an unprecedented manufacturing "think-tank" summit called ProsperousKentuckySM2007. The summit is expected to attract some 500 Kentucky manufacturers to hear the most influential and powerful leaders from around the state and nation present new ideas on how to protect and grow Kentucky's manufacturing industry. See attachment for list of speakers.

WHEN:

Monday, February 12, 2007, 9 am to 3 pm. Lunch will be served at 12 noon. Post-summit events include a viewing of a legislative session in the Capitol Gallery at 4 pm and a private reception at the Kentucky History Center at 6:30 pm for attendees, legislators and government officials.

WHERE:

Frankfort Convention Center. 405 Mero Street, Frankfort, KY.

RSVP:

Members of the media are encouraged to pre-register and arrive no later than 8:30 am. Please let us know of your attendance plans by calling Susan Gilmore at (502) 491-4737.

Coverage Opportunities:

- Interviews with KAM President Andrew Meko and/or Board members about the future of Kentucky's manufacturing industry.
- Interviews with high-ranking government officials, legislators and manufacturing executives.
- Footage and photo opportunities of convention center filled with the state's most influential government and manufacturing leaders.
